Be Nice to New Jersey Week

This year, July 1-7 is designated as Be Nice to New Jersey Week.

While most states may be the butt of jokes from people in neighboring states, New Jersey seems to have more than its fair share.

There are 1.1 million acres of protected pinelands and 730,000 acres of farmland within New Jersey's borders.

New Jersey is a state of firsts. The first blueberry was cultivated in NJ. The state is also the home of the first phonograph and light bulb, first Navy submarine, first balloon flight, first boardwalk, first cranberry sauce, and the first robot.

New Jersey also has had many firsts in the world of sports. The first organized baseball game, the first professional basketball game, and the first college football game were all played in New Jersey.

So show New Jersey some love and learn about these and other interesting things that make New Jersey great. The library has a large collection of books that will help you learn about the history, attractions, wildlife, curiosities, and more.
