“The library is not a shrine for the worship of books. It is not a temple where literary incense must be burned or where one’s devotion to the bound book is expressed in ritual. A library, to modify the famous metaphor of Socrates, should be the delivery room for the birth of ideas —a place where history comes to life.”

~Norman Cousins

MARGARET E. HEGGAN FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY NEWSLETTER

How is a library database different from a website?

At a time when many people are asking, “Why do we need libraries when we have the internet?” it’s important to understand the differences between websites and databases.

Library Databases vs. Websites

Library databases get their information from professionals or experts in the field.	Websites can be written by anyone regardless of expertise.
---	--

Library databases contain published works where facts are checked.	Website content is not necessarily checked by an expert.
--	--

Library databases are easy to cite in a bibliography; many create the citation for you.	Websites often don’t provide the information necessary to create a complete citation.

Library databases can help you narrow your topic or suggest related subjects.	Websites often aren’t organized to support student research needs.
---	--

Library databases are updated frequently and include the date of publication.	Websites may not indicate when a page is updated.
---	---

The Margaret Heggan Library has a number of databases available to library customers. From auto repair to zoology, there is a database that can help you research anything. Genealogy, Biography, Medical, Legal, Business, Science, Literature, Newspapers, and much more are available on library databases.

If you need help with your research, ask a librarian.

Library Card Sign-Up Month

September is Library Card Sign-Up Month, a time to remind parents, teachers, and children that a library card is the most important school supply of all. Studies show that children who are read to in the home and who use the library perform better in school and are more likely to continue to use the library as a source of lifelong learning.

The library works to ensure that materials are available for students’ research projects and homework assignments. The library also has many databases available at the library or from home with a library card.

Kid's Corner

Say goodbye to summer with some Watermelon Fun on September 1.

In September, Toddler Time, Book Buddies, and Story Crafters return.

On Monday, September 26th, kids ages 3-6 will enjoy "The Alphabet Song." Author/illustrator Mark Kummer will present a program that includes a reading/singing of his book, followed by a drawing session based on the letters of the alphabet.

On September 12th, kids ages 3-6 can make an Apple Craft.

Kids can also create a pudding snack during Tummy Yummies on the 19th.

There will also be Puzzle Play and Parachute Fun in September.

Please go to the calendar at www.hegganlibrary.org to register for children's programs.

Please see the calendar on page 4 for program times, dates, and ages.

Banned Books Week
September 24- October 1

Banned Books Week 2011 is the 30th annual celebration of the freedom to read. This freedom, not only to choose what we read, but also to select from a full array of possibilities, is firmly rooted in the First Amendment. Although we enjoy an increasing quantity and availability of information and reading material, we must remain vigilant to ensure that access to this material is preserved.

Sex, profanity, and racism remain the primary categories of objection. Frequently, challenges are motivated by the desire to protect children. Individuals may restrict what they themselves or their children read, but they must not call on governmental or public agencies to prevent others from reading or seeing that material.
