Meet our New Director

The library is pleased to welcome its new Director, Sheila Mikkelsen. Sheila has been working in public libraries in a professional capacity since 1995. She has been a Young Adult Coordinator in Fayetteville, NC, and the manager of the Young Adults' Services Department in Fort Wayne, IN.

Sheila has also been Director of the Dover Public Library in Dover, DE, the Seymour Public Library District in Auburn, NY, and the Delaware City Library in Delaware City, DE. Before coming to the Margaret Heggan Library, Sheila was the Director of the William Jeanes Memorial Library and Nicholas and Athena Karabots Center for Learning in Lafayette Hill, PA.

Sheila has published three books and several articles related to teens and tweens in the library. She has served as a Councilor-at-Large for the American Library Association (ALA) and as a member of the Board of Directors of the Young Adult Library Services Association (YALSA). For ten years, she also taught several graduate-level library science courses for Clarion University of PA including "Management of Public Libraries."

Sheila is a West Deptford native who graduated from West Deptford High School. She continued her education at Gloucester County College, Rowan University, and Clarion University where she received her MS in Library Science. She enjoys swimming, reading, photography, and classic rock. She lives in West Deptford with her husband and four-year-old daughter.

Sheila is looking forward to continuing the tradition of excellent library services to the residents of Washington Township at the Heggan Library. After a twenty year odyssey of living throughout the country, she's thrilled to be living back in Gloucester County. It has been her lifelong professional goal to direct a library in Gloucester County, and the Heggan Library is a great fit with her prior library director experience.
