Learn a new language

Library patrons can now enhance their language learning goals with access to Rosetta Stone Library Solution. Whether patrons want to learn a brand new language, further their English as a Second Language (ESL) learning, or brush up on a language for business or vacation travel, Rosetta Stone is the perfect solution.

Rosetta Stone Library Solution offers library patrons the proven immersion method that more than 22,000 schools and 12,000 businesses have trusted for the last 20-plus years. This interactive approach has been used by millions of learners around the world and is now accessible anywhere, anytime. This resource includes 30 languages. Learning is structured around core lessons to build reading, writing, speaking, and listening skills. Patrons can take advantage of available mobile apps to reinforce their language learning wherever they may be.

The library also offers Mango Languages, a simple, interactive, easy-to-use language learning program that is offered online. It is an effective and fun way to learn a language. Mango Languages courses are available in 72 foreign languages, including many specialty courses such as Cherokee, Legal and Medical Spanish, ancient languages such as Biblical Hebrew and Shakespearean English, and Pirate, as well as 19 ESL courses.

If you have a Margaret Heggan Library card and have access to the internet, you can access Rosetta Stone and Mango remotely from anywhere. Because the courses are interactive and use voice recognition, you will need a microphone, which are not provided by the library.

Please call the library, 856-589-3334, or visit www.hegganlibrary.org to learn more about accessing Rosetta Stone and Mango Languages.
